

Something to do 9: be a writer for the day

On your Inlet visit, write notes in the shapes below. If you have a camera, try to take some appropriate photos.

What the Inlet looks like

What you can see and do

How people who visit the Inlet can make sure they don't damage it

Anything else you notice or learn about the Inlet

When you get back to school, write a newspaper article or make a brochure that will encourage families to visit the Inlet. You can use your photos, or you can download some from www.gopi.org.nz to help you illustrate your article or brochure.
